COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY, EVENING, Nov. 4.

Consols in London were ⅛ higher yesterday at 100⅜, but Indian loans were all lower, the 3½ per cent. sterling by ½, 4 per cent. Rupee by ½, and 4½ per cent. ¼. Withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England for North America continue, £100,000 being reported yesterday, but in the open market three months, bills are discountable at 3⅜ and four months at 3¾ per cent.

In General Produce, Linseed is again slightly easier, but other articles are unaltered.

A quieter tone is apparent in the Liverpool, the usual pause no doubt after an interval of activity The sales yesterday were 1,200 bales, including 1,500 Surats, and although ready prices were unchanged, Americans to arrive were 1-32d. to 3-64d lower. In New York futures are 2 points easier, spot cotton unchanged. The receipts at the U. S. ports to date are as follows :—

	1884	1883	1882
Two days' receipts	62,000	62,000	49,000
Three days' do.	96,000	100,000	88,000
Total since 1st Sept	1,519,000	1,558,000	1,560,000

Our local market has been quieter again in sympathy with the home news, and there are sellers to-day at yesterday's nominal quotations, but buyers now hold back. In new crop the following are quoted rates :—

Good Broach, March	Rs. 210
" Omra, "	" 181
" Bengal, Dec. "	" 145
" Bhowanuggur, April "	" 152

Wheat and Seeds are dull and unchanged.

Freights are without quotable alteration, say, 11s. 3d. for Liverpool ; 15s. to 17s. 6d. Continental ports.

Exchange has been quiet at yesterday's rates, only a small business having been done. In Calcutta quotations are also unaltered, and we shall probably see no decided movement until the result of the biddings for the week is known on Thursday even if then Bar Silver in London is quoted down to 50⅜d. per oz. ; but it is still above the level of exchange. We quote ready bills :—

Bank Bills on demand	...1s. 7¼d. per rupee.
Do. of telegraphic	...1s. 7 1-16d. "
Do. Three months' sight	...1s. 7 9-32d. "
Credits " " "	...1s. 7 7-16d. "
Francs " "	2 70 "

Government Paper is firm at unaltered values. Fours, Rs. 99½ ; Fours-and-a-half, Rs. 102½.

Shares are steady. Spinning Mills continue to improve on the strength of the more active demand for Twist in China. Our quotations show a general improvement of Rs. 5 to Rs. 10 per share and in the case of Manockjee Petits Rs. 15. In Press Companies Colaba are Rs. 25, Fort Rs. 50 per share higher. Port Cannings have improved to Rs. 340. Treacher and Company, Limited, are Rs. 5 up at Rs. 1,180. Bombay-Burmah Trading Company's shares are Rs. 15 lower at Rs. 4,800.

DEFECTIVE OR FAILING SIGHT.

THE sense of sight is so valuable that the importance of perfect and carefully adjusted spectacles can scarcely be overrated ; although the wearing of single eye-glasses should be strictly avoided, we have the highest medical authority, confirmed by daily experience, that imperfect glasses, together with the haphazard plan of selection generally employed, are frequent causes of remediable injury to the sight ; and as no present pecuniary can compensate for such a loss, it behoves us to be cautious how they are tempted to use the common pebble or glass spectacles now so generally

The Bombay Gazette

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1884.

We published a day or two since a translation of a decree, issued from Rome sub annulo piscatoris, in virtue of which the extraordinary jurisdiction of the Archbishop of Goa in a number of Apostolic Vicariates ceased on the 1st of October in the present year. The incident puts an end—so far as the seven Apostolic Vicariates named are concerned—to an interesting "survival" which dates back from a very early period in the history of Portuguese dominion in India. Just as Adrian the Fourth, in virtue of his magnificent assertion of the jurisdiction of the successors of Peter over the "isles of the sea," had invested Henry the Second of England with the sovereignty of Ireland, so Alexander Borgia bestowed upon John of Portugal three hundred years later all the countries in the East which he might conquer. Portuguese conquests in Asia thus became invested with a quasi-sanctity. It was scarcely more for Portugal than for the Church that Vasco da Gama and his companions and successors set out on their voyages of discovery and conquest. The early Portuguese discoverers, it has been happily remarked, were not traders or private adventurers, but admirals, with a royal commission to conquer territory and promote the spread of Christianity. As it was the conviction of James the First of England that where there was no Bishop there could be no State, so the conviction of the founders of Portuguese empire in the East was that there could be no colonies without churches. It was no mere coincidence of names that while the second Portuguese Governor of Goa was an Albuquerque, the first Portuguese Bishop of Goa was also an Albuquerque. The successors of Vasco da Gama were crusaders as well as colonists, and it was in recognition of this fact that the Holy See conferred upon the Kings of Portugal the "Padroado" which is to-day threatened with imminent abolition. In virtue of this right the Portuguese Kings have for the past three centuries and a half nominated the Archbishops of Goa, subject to confirmation by the Pope, these prelates bearing the title of Metropolitan and Primate of the East. In course of time the Metropolitan thus magnificently endowed with jurisdiction was supplied with suffragans upon whom to exercise his jurisdiction. A Bishopric of Cochin was created, and then one of Malacca, this latter see extending from Pegu to China, and embracing the islands of Sumatra and Java, and the Moluccas Archipelago. The whole of China and Japan and the islands of the China seas were subsequently erected into the Bishopric of Macao. But before the century had run out Portuguese supremacy in the East was well-nigh at an end, and the primary jurisdiction of the Goanese Metropolitan outside Continental India became a mere name. And the day does not seem distant when it will be less than a name, even in India.

It is the extraordinary jurisdiction of the Archbishop of Goa in India itself—the imperium in imperio which has followed the exercise of the "Padroado"—that is now in question. It is no new controversy that is being carried on, with a bitterness that threatens to lead to something not far short of schism amongst the Catholics of India. Over and over again the claim of the King of Portugal to nominate the Archbishop of Goa, and through him to exercise an influence over ecclesiastical patronage in India, has been contested. The most strenuous opposition to the "Padroado" has come from the Papal Court itself, despite the fact that the special jurisdiction was of its own creation, and that the historic warrant for the Portuguese claims is to be found in concordats and compacts to which the Holy See was one of the consenting parties. It is alleged by the defenders of the "Padroado" that the rights of the King of Portugal have for many years been persistently encroached upon by the Papal Court. Thus in the time of Gregory the Sixteenth, and subsequently, the King's rights have been invaded by the publication within his jurisdiction of Papal Bulls which, not having received the King's Exequatur, were invalid and apocryphal. The informality—if it be an informality—is not new to students of ecclesiastical history. It was in opposition to an almost similar invasion of local rights that the Statute of Premunire was enacted in England. In our own time the offence has been condoned even by Governments as little friendly to the Church as that of the French Republic, albeit that it is undoubtedly illegal to publish a Papal Brief in France without the consent of the civil authority. What is thought of it, however, by the staunch upholders of the rights of the King of Portugal and the Goanese Primate may be seen in the vigorous protest against the Pope's latest Brief from one of the Archbishop's Vicar Generals in Ceylon which we published yesterday. "I can render no true obedience to the Holy See," Father Alphonso declares, "without obeying my ordinary in matters rightly appertaining to his authority." He therefore protests against the Papal Brief as an act derogatory to the jurisdiction of the Archbishop of Goa, adding that the ecclesiastical jurisdiction in the East Indies is the subject of a concordat between the Holy See and the King of Portugal, and that

SEVERE FIGHTING IN CHINA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

COLOMBO, Nov. 3.

The China Mail of the 21st ult. brings news of frequent and severe fighting in Tongking, where the Chinese showed perfect discipline and great bravery. Commanded by the Tartar general, they fought hand to hand with the French. The staff officers were mounted. Four severe engagements were fought, and many were killed and wounded. The ammunition of the French having been exhausted, they were compelled to fight with the bayonet.

The French gunboats on the Langson river are unsuited, being too heavy. They grounded during the turning of the tide. One gun forwards could not be used. The boats were attacked by the Chinese in ambush, and lost thirty-six men killed and wounded.

Another force landed from a gunboat was attacked by the Chinese with a Krupp gun. After desperate fighting, the French were driven off, the Chinese capturing a gun which the French gunboat could not disable. The French lost forty officers and men in killed and wounded.

The force marched to join the main body under General Negrier, making for Langson. They proceeded to the village of Haugkeep. The Chinese force was skilfully placed in the outlying mud forts, but had no artillery. The fight lasted six hours. Most of the French being without ammunition, they carried the forts at the point of the bayonet. The Chinese met them steadily, and retired in good order. The Chinese loss is unknown. The French lostten officers killed and wounded, and seventy men.

General Negrier pushed on two days later, and fought again. The engagement, which was carried on with the bayonet, was severe. The particulars have not yet been received.

The wounded, brought down to the gunboats at Haiphong, describe the fighting as severe, the loss on both sides being heavy.

It is impossible for the French to proceed without reinforcements and stores. A general rising of the people of Tongking is expected. Large bodies of troops are on the Chinese frontier. Divers are employed in destroying the Chinese telegraph cable along the coast at all ports.

Formosa is blockaded with the object of starving out the Chinese and to stop all trade.

Later particulars of the landing of the French at Tamsui show that they sustained a loss of sixty or seventy. Eight hundred men who were landed to storm the forts were stopped by the bad nature of the ground in the paddy-fields and the low scrub. A strong body of Chinese troops in ambush poured heavy volleys which staggered the French. The French tried to take them in flank, but they were unable to attain their object, and were compelled to retire with heavy loss. Boats full of Chinese followed them to the water's edge, and captured a Hochkiss gun from a French boat.

German officers are drilling the Chinese troops, and in the northern ports English engineers are in Chinese employ.

Six vessels with men and stores have arrived at Singapore from China, and more are expected.

Large numbers of wounded invalids are going home from Tongking.

After taking up the reins at Simla he will return to Meerut, where he will meet the Commander-in-Chief and accompany His Excellency on tour. Sir George Greaves proceeds home in the Cathay, which sails on the 21st instant.

From Quetta comes the news that all the Zhob Maliks have come into Sir Robert Sandeman's camp, with the exception of Shabjehan and Saifulla Khan.

A trader who has arrived at Peshawur from Kabul states that two troops of cavalry and 300 Bactrian camels have recently been sent from Kabul for service with the Afghan Boundary Commission.

Writing on the subject of the recent choral festival at the Cathedral, the Bombay Diocesan Record makes the following suggestions, which it thinks might be adopted with advantage on a future occasion :—

1. That there should be a choral celebration of the Holy Eucharist on the morning of the festival, in addition to the choral evensong.

2. That in alternate years the psalms, canticles, and the office hymn should be sung to the ancient Gregorian tones, while for the anthems and the other hymns more modern and elaborate music might be selected.

3. That in each choir a certain part of the boys, say a third, should be taught to sing alto, so that the balance of voices may be preserved at the festival. At the recent festival the altos, though assisted by two lady contraltos, and singing with marked excellence, were clearly overpowered by the other three parts.

Further particulars of the collision between the rival Mahomedan factions—Shiahs and Sunis—at Cambay are contained in a telegram to the Pioneer. It appears that the rival factions met near Chitari Mhal, and that a fight ensued, in the course of which several men were wounded. The Dewan of the State and other officials hastened to the spot and endeavoured to pacify the rioters, but at first without effect. Troops were ordered out, and two guns were posted near the scene of the disturbance. This seems to have infuriated the rabble, who charged the guns several times, but were repulsed. Eventually order was restored through the agency of the Kazi, on the understanding that the men who had been guilty of inciting the mob to acts of violence should be given up by their co-religionists. Cambay is a small feudatory State, and its total military forces number only 120 cavalry and 1,200 infantry, with a few guns. The soldiers are mostly undisciplined, and would scarcely be able to cope with any serious outbreak. The Nawab is an old man of seventy, and is a Mogul Mahomedan of the Shiah sect.

A correspondent of an up-country paper raises an alarm with reference to the Simla water-supply. It is probable that the Sanjadli reservoir will be ready for storage purposes next spring, but the fact still remains (says the correspondent) that even with this additional help a drought similar to that of the past hot weather would be attended with the most serious inconvenience. It is estimated by the Municipal Committee that not more than 90,000 gallons per day could in the future be ensured under adverse circumstances. Of this amount at least 20,000 gallons would be absolutely necessary for the flushing of the new sewage-pipes when laid, and another 20,000 for the lavatories attached to the new offices, watering the roads and cleaning the bazaars for the use of horses and cows in the place, and for the crowds of coolies, mules, and bullocks which daily visit Simla from the outskirts. There would remain then only 50,000 gallons for a population of considerably over 20,000 souls, or in round numbers between 2 and 2½ gallons per head per day.

An "Old Soldier" writes to say that the survivors of Havelock's column which saved the Residency of Lucknow with the loss of 60 officers and 700 men have never received a clasp for this deed of arms. "Does not this," Truth asks, "strangely contrast with the medals and decorations which have been lavished on troops in Egypt for putting to flight a few trembling fellahs?"

In his new book Lord Malmesbury tells a good story of how, when Princess Alice was confirmed, he was desired to transmit an announcement of the ceremony to all the Foreign Courts, and how "awkward" it was to discover that in the Foreign Office cipher "confirmation" also stood for "confinement." He has also recorded the famous invitation sent to the Embassies before one of the Queen's receptions which set forth "that the Queen will graciously receive the Corps Diplomatique, male and female."

Complaints are made as to the manner in which the awards at the Edinburgh Forestry Exhibition were distributed. Truth has received the following letter on the subject :—

With reference to your remarks last week as to the dissatisfaction among the exhibitors at the Forestry Exhibition respecting the awards, here are a few facts. Out of 290 awards for Great Britain and Ireland, no fewer than 231 went to Scotland, leaving 59 for England, Ireland, and Wales! Strange to say, the Scotch exhibitors carry off the palm in every class, and the London firms which obtained the highest awards last month at the International Exhibition at Amsterdam actually get nothing whatever at Edinburgh.

The Lahore Church Gazette understands that the Bible Society is sending out an agent, formerly a non-comissioned officer in India, who is to have his head-quarters at Allahabad. He hopes, from that station as a centre to establish religious book-stalls served by colporteurs or Scripture-readers up and down the lines of rail. In the Punjab there are two such book stalls, in connection with the Religious Book Society at Lahore and Umritsur; and they are of great use. "We heartily wish success to this new undertaking," says the Church Gazette, "and a widespread influence. 'Evil is wrought by want of thought as well as want of heart;' and one special form of thoughtlessness is the readiness shown by even good people in buying up trashy or bad literature for a railway journy, mainly because it is the only thing offered. Good and attractive books, well and attractively offered, will, by means of such an organisation, replace many a useless or harmful publication."

Since the era of electrical exhibitions began every one has learned the danger of taking watches too near to electrical dynamos. A magnetized watch will run ten hours all right, then stop for two or three hours, and go on, or it may stop a dozen times an hour, until it is demagnetized by the application of garlic juice or some more expeditious process. An American watchmaker claims to have made a much more interesting discovery, namely, that it is not only an electrical atmosphere which "bewitches" a watch, but that the temperament of the wearer may produce the same symptoms. If the wearer be in low spirits, the watch loses; if the reverse is the case, it gains. Nervous ladies, to facilitate the diagnosis of their physician, would do well to wear their watches constantly, if it were only to act as a moodometer. The magnetism of the feelings in the American bosom must be much stronger than in England. American watches in English pockets are by no means so sympathetic.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORT.

Simla, Nov. 4.—Pressure is decreasing everywhere. The change amounts to about one-tenth of an inch both in North-westerly India and in the south of the peninsula. The decrease at Negapatam has been accompanied by a strong northerly wind, rough sea, and heavy rain, apparently pointing to the approach of another cyclonic disturbance to the south of the peninsula. In other respects the relative distribution differs little from the average. The wind is westerly over the Punjab and the Gangetic plain, northerly over Chutia Nagpur, Bengal, Arakan, north-north-easterly along the east coast, and north-easterly to easterly elsewhere. The weather is more or less cloudy round the bay, particularly to the southward of Madras. It is fine generally elsewhere. The temperature has decreased. The changes in humidity are irregular, except in Bengal, where there has been a general decrease. Rain to-day :—Negapatam, 8¼ inches : Madras, 2½ inches ; Nellore, 1½ inch ; Trichinopoly, ½ inch. Previously, Nellore had 4 quarter inch.

RETIREMENT OF SIR GEORGE GREAVES.

The following general order by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, was issued on the 30th ult. :—

Major-General Sir George Greaves, K. C. M. G., C.B., relinquishes to-day the high office of Adjutant-General in India.

The past five years have witnessed events of historical importance, for within that period are comprised the occupation and defence of Kabul, the battles of Ahmed Kheyl, Maiwand, and Kandahar, and the withdrawal of the British Army from Afghanistan.

Throughout these operations, and during the expeditions in the Waziri country and on the North-Eastern frontier, the Commander-in-Chief in India has relied with confidence on the matured judgment and military sagacity of Sir George Greaves.

So also in the discussion of the many grave questions of army administration which have arisen during this period, has Sir Donald Stewart found reason to value the Adjutant General's sound sense, independence, and scrupulous honesty of purpose.

In Sir George Greaves the Army of India possesses a true friend and a genial comrade ; in its name the Commander-in-Chief bids him a very hearty farewell.

THE BOMBAY VOLUNTEER CORPS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—In a leading article in your issue of this day on the subject of Volunteering in India, occasion is taken to reflect on the manner in which, as shown by Saturday's parade, the paper strength of the Bombay Volunteers is represented by the strength on parade. Following, as this article does, on a series of statements, editorial and by correspondents, in both the local papers, generally in disparagement of the corps, and calculated, though founded on insufficient data by persistent reiteration to injure it, I trust you will allow me to show that the disproportion you allege is not so great as represented. In the first place, then, the paper strength of the corps, excluding the Poona companies and the cadets, is not 700 as you state, but only a little over 500. No doubt it is matter for regret that the number is not greater, but that question is not relevant in considering whether the existing members do their duty. Next, the corps is largely, if not mainly, composed of bodies of men in public employ, e. g., the Telegraphs, Customs, and Hospitals. It is only under exceptional circumstances that more than one-half of these can be off duty at once and so able to attend parade. Everyone conversant with the administrative economy of the corps will gladly acknowledge the general readiness of the heads of departments to afford facilities to the members of the corps who happen to be under their control to make themselves efficient, but it is impossible to expect that more than a certain proportion—one-half would be a liberal allowance—of these members can be spared from their duties every Saturday. If the figures were worked out, I believe I should be found within the mark in saying that not more than three hundred men could by any possibility turn out every Saturday, were they so minded. The average strength on parade may be taken, exclusive of staff, band, and cadets, at about 150, one-half the available men. I think this proportion is in itself, though capable of improvement, not wholly unsatisfactory, more especially when it is borne in mind that an efficient volunteer has but nine drills to put in during the season, that numerous drills are held throughout the week attended by members of the corps in larger or smaller numbers, and that an efficient volunteer is not required by the regulations to attend more than six parades of the whole corps. Adopting this last test alone, and bearing in mind that there are twenty-four parades of the whole corps in the season, the number of men who should be present on parade every Saturday in order that the conditions prescribed by the Volunteer Regulations for efficiency may be fulfilled would be on an average 125. That this number is considerably exceeded shows that the spirit of the corps is not so wholly enervated by conditions, climatic or otherwise, as you and your contemporary would have us suppose. I do not know, sir, to which company you refer when you single it out as an illustration of want of proper attendance on parade, but I am sure of this—that any company which turns out, as did the one you speak of, one-third of its enrolled members at an ordinary parade of the whole corps will at the end of the season be found to have done much more than is required by the Regulations for the efficiency of its members. I must apologise for the length to which this letter has run ; but I trust the subject will be considered of sufficient importance to provide a valid excuse.—Yours, &c.

THE LATE NUGGUR POLICE CASE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—In your issue of the 23rd ult., you passed some severe remarks on the conduct of the Nuggur police in a certain case. These remarks were avowedly based on the language used by the magistrate in his judgment, which gave a very incorrect and one-sided view of the case. The police, no doubt, are often justly blamed. The only wonder is that, with the traditions of the class from which they are recruited, they should not abuse their power more frequently than the case referred to, however, they certainly did not do more than they were obliged to do by law, and had they done less they would have been liable to censure. As the case has excited some comment, I trust you will, in justice to the police, give the following facts as full publicity as you did to the original statement. The magistrate has used much high-flown language, but one might say to him in the words of Prince Hal : "Mark now how a plain tale shall you put down." The chief constable having casually heard that this widow (who was of the labouring class) had just given birth to an illegitimate child, and that there was at least a possibility, under the circumstances, of concealment of birth, or worse, called together a regular panch, as he was obliged to do by law, and they proceeded to the woman's hut. Finding that the statement of birth was true, and that it had occurred about twelve hours before, they proceeded into the hut to see what had become of the child. Leading the public to infer that a band of police had burst into the woman's room whilst she was in the pangs of child-birth is simple flummery. Nothing was done contrary to the native customs of her class ; and the woman at once acknowledged the birth, and said she had taken drugs to procure abortion, and that the child (which was about five months old) was born dead. She then pointed out where she had put it under a basket, wrapped in some cloth. Her deposition to the above effect was subsequently taken by a magistrate, a fact which the magistrate who tried the case has not commented on. The woman was not shut up in seclusion, and it is a well-known fact that with women of her class, who often work as usual up to the last day, child-birth is a very simple matter as a rule, and easily got over ; so that the quotation of the magistrate in support of the judgment of the High Court in another case was quite irrelevant.

FAIRPLAY.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

The voting at the Municipal election yesterday was unattended by the crowd and crushing which occurred on the occasion of the last Municipal elections, when there were two vacancies and three candidates and a keen contest. Dr. Roland Blaney was the only candidate yesterday. The absence of opposition is attributed to the large number of votes which had been previously secured by Dr. Roland Blaney's friends. It was said that about 1,500 votes had been promised, and this made opposition hopeless, from which the Municipal Commissioner declared Mr. Freeborn's seat in the Corporation vacant. Intimation was conveyed to most of the voters before the day of the election that Dr. Roland Blaney was the only candidate for the vacancy, and that it would not be necessary for his friends to turn out in force to make his election sure. There was no necessity, therefore, to provide carriages to convey voters to the voting office, and consequently none were provided. The election being practically a walk over, it is not a little remarkable that 253 voters should have put in an appearance at the polling office. The voters came in ones and twos during the whole day, and many of them explained that they came to the polling place under a sense of duty though knowing that their votes were not necessary to secure the election of the candidate, of whom they approved. The Municipal Office was quiet all day, and the voting closed at the usual hour of 6 p.m. by the registration, as we have already said, of 253 votes in favour of Dr. Roland Blaney. Of these voters, there were 60 Europeans, Portuguese, Mahomedans, and Jews ; 122 Parsees ; and 71 Hindoos.

LORD RIPON'S ADMINISTRATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—Now that Lord Ripon is shortly to lay down the reins of the Government of this country, it is, I think, time to devote a few words to recording the chief measures inaugurated by him for the general advancement of the country. These measures are :—

1. The repeal of the Vernacular Press Act.
2. The scheme of local self-government.
3. Reduction in the salt duty.
4. Suspension, or even entire remission, of State revenues in a bad season.
5. Establishment of an Agricultural Bank.
6. Elevation of deserving natives to high and responsible posts.
7. Sanctioning the purchase of stores by Government officers from local manufacturers.
8. Encouraging private enterprise by aid of indigenous capital.
9. Protest in the matter of expenses of the field force lately sent to Egypt.
10. Publicity for legislative measures.
11. The Education Commission.
12. The Ilbert Bill.

1. The repeal of the Vernacular Press Act.—In a country like India freedom of the press is absolutely necessary, in order that all measures of Government may be freely discussed through its medium. This discussion is highly beneficial both to the rulers and the ruled in various ways. Sometimes very valuable suggestions are made on important topics, and Government have an opportunity of knowing what is the view of the public are as regards any particular measure under consideration. In a debate in the Legislative Council of the Government of India regarding the repeal of this Act, Lord Ripon was pleased to say, "All that I desire to say is, that it will always be a great satisfaction to me that it should have been during the time that I held the office of Viceroy that the Act was removed from the Indian Statute-Book." These words have been fully realized ; the law has been repealed and freedom of the press re-established.

2. Local Self-government.—I gratefully acknowledge, on behalf of my countrymen, the great boon of the right of local self-government lately conferred by the Viceroy on us. This measure, if persevered in with zeal and discretion according to the principles laid down in the Resolution of the 21st September, 1881, cannot fail to produce immense good to the millions of India in various ways, by slowly but steadily developing their public spirit (want of which is bitterly felt by all well-wishers of the country), and creating amongst them a taste for political education.

3. Reduction in the salt duty.—This measure has afforded a very substantial relief to the poor classes throughout the length and breadth of the country. This noble act has rendered salt—an absolute necessary of life—easily procurable by the poor of India, not only for daily consumption, but for other useful purposes of life. I may add here that no people in any part of India will more rejoice in this relief than those in the Bombay and the Madras Presidencies. For this tax though reduced in other parts of India, was considerably raised in these two Presidencies without good reasons.

4. Suspension and remission of State revenues in bad seasons.—Closely connected with the above is the adoption of liberal measures for helping the cultivating classes in seasons of exceptional severity, either by suspending or in cases of serious calamities, completely remitting revenues due to Government by ryots. Unfortunately there is seldom a year, in these days, in which there is not a season of crop-failure in some or other parts of India ; and if these measures are promptly and judiciously carried out by those concerned, the cultivators will derive valuable assistance in tiding over difficulties brought about by seasons of great pressure.

5. Establishment of an Agricultural Bank in the Deccan.—The retiring Viceroy deserves the hearty thanks of the Deccan peasantry for having received with approval a scheme proposed by that generous gentleman, Sir William Wedderburn, for establishing an Agricultural Bank having for its immediate object the protection of the Deccan ryots from the influence of unscrupulous sowcars. This plan has, I think, been well thought out, and if worked systematically will go a great way to improve the status of the Deccan cultivators.

6. Elevation of deserving natives to high and responsible posts.—Lord Ripon has fulfilled, as far as practicable, the promises held out to us by Her Majesty the Queen-Empress of India in the Royal Proclamation of 1858. It would indeed be tedious to dwell at length here on the policy and measures adopted by the out-going Viceroy for elevating the position of deserving natives in this direction, but I cannot help mentioning, with a sense of gratitude and honour, the fact of his having raised to the highest judicial post in the land Mr. Justice Mitter during the short absence in England last year of Sir Richard Garth.

7. Sanctioning the purchase of stores by Government officers from local manufacturers.—Another important service rendered by Lord Ripon is his encouragement of the purchase of stores from local manufacturers with the view of fostering new native industries. I am sure that if the local Governments and officials loyally carry out his views in this respect, new industries will undoubtedly come into existence in all parts of the country. I am glad to be able to state that His Excellency's attempts in this matter have already been attended with fair success, for there has been a sensible reduction in the value of Government stores imported in India since the promulgation of Lord Ripon's orders on this subject.

8. Encouraging private enterprise by aid of indigenous capital.—We should be ungrateful to Lord Ripon if we forgot the action taken by his Government for developing the vast resources of this country through the means of private enterprize working with indigenous capital. I heartily welcome this wise measure and fervently hope that greater and greater encouragement will be afforded to the investment of native capital in various public works calculated to improve the material wealth of the country.

9. Protest in the matter of expenses of the field force lately sent to Egypt from India.—India is greatly indebted to Lord Ripon for the energetic protest made by his Government in the matter of expenses of the contingent lately despatched from this country for service in Egypt. Were it not for his praiseworthy efforts in this matter, the Home Government would not, I think, have come forward with such a large sum as fifty lakhs as their quota towards the whole expenditure.

10. Publicity for legislative measures.—Another useful service rendered by the retiring Viceroy to India is the steps taken by him for giving due publicity for legislative measures. In a country like India, where the Legislative Councils are not based upon the representative principle—publicity for legislative proposals is essentially necessary to enable the public at large to discuss freely any measure before it passes into law.

11. The Education Commission.—I next turn to the steps taken by the Viceroy for inquiring into the educational system of this country by appointing a representative Commission. It appeared to Lord Ripon that the time had come when the educational system of India, the foundation of which was laid by the despatch of Sir Charles Wood (now Lord Halifax) in 1854, required revision by a Commission. A long and very important Resolution has been issued dealing with labours of the Commissioners, containing their recommendations for the general advancement of public education of all kinds—higher, middle, and primary—which has already been acted on for some of these recommendations, and it is therefore useless to dwell on them here. Suffice it to say that if the local Governments lend their hearty assistance for the practical carrying out of these thoughtful suggestions, Lord Ripon's Commission will have done signal service to this country.

12. The Ilbert Bill.—It is to be regretted that this measure did not attain much success. But Lord Ripon is not to be blamed for this. He was now to the country and could not gauge the feelings of his countrymen residing in India on the subject. The main principles of the Bill, though within very narrow limits, have been affirmed ; and this is not a small gain.

A NATIVE.

Satara, Nov. 3.

SALE OF THE VILLAGE OF BHANDUP.

On the 19th instant the well-known village of Bhandup will be sold by public auction under the orders of the High Court and in presence of Mr. G. H. Farran, Acting Commissioner. As the village is about to pass out of the Ashburner family, who have been the possessors for several years, it may be interesting to give some particulars of the past history of the estate. The village of Bhandup is situated in the zillah Tanna, within a few minutes' walk from the G. I. P. Bhandup station. It contains by admeasurement about 1,311 acres of land. There is a large distillery, known as the Bhandup Distillery, consisting of various buildings, machinery, and apparatus for distilling spirits. A line of rails thrown alongside the distillery warehouses runs into the trunk line of the G. I. P. railway company, on the opposite side of which is a creek which floats at flood-tides ordinary country vessels. Goods manufactured at the distillery can be thus easily brought to Bombay either by rail or by sea. There are several wells and tanks on the estate, some of which provide the bungalow and the distillery premises with copious supplies of water conveyed through a long line of iron pipes. The G. I. P. Railway Company are at present paying Rs. 800 per annum for the privilege of drawing water for their locomotives through these sources.

There are various descriptions of trees growing on the estate, amongst which are principally brab trees, date trees, and mango trees. There is also a small forest which produces valuable teak rafters and ordinary firewood. The land is let to tenants who hold, with a few exceptions, yearly tenancies. Certain produce of the estate is farmed by the receiver for a period of one year from 29th June, 1884. The original title to the major portion of the village communicated from a grant from the East India Company to one Luke Ashburner in 1803. It passed into the hands of the present Parsee Ashburner family in 1833. The late Cursetjee Cowasjee paid three lakhs of rupees for the acquirement of the property. The distillery, which was in full working during that period, supplied rum to the Bombay Government for several years, for the use of the Army, the quantity supplied being estimated at something like 200,000 gallons every year. The large godowns for storing spirits and materials still exist. The supply of water at Bhandup is copious, there being several tanks on high ground from which water is carried by iron pipes. The receiver, Mr. Ferdinand de Brito, has farmed certain produce for one year for Rs. 6,200. There are about 2,500 brab and 2,500 date trees, besides a splendid forest producing teak rafters and firewood. We understand that the native Chiefs have instructed their agents to watch the sale, as the possession of such a property is considered by bona-fide investors desirable.

The servant, on being examined, confessed to having committed the theft ; but said that he had thrown away the note into the river.—Deccan Herald.

Lost Property.—Mr. Wright, of the G. I. P. Railway, residing at Nepean Sea-road, Malabar Hill, reports that he dropped out of his carriage, between his house and the Byculla railway station, a black-silk fan, silver mounted, on the 2nd inst.—Mr. Framroz Dadabhoy, living at Girgaum Back-road, reports the loss of a purse, somewhere about that road, on the 2nd inst. The purse contained three gold rings, set with a ruby, an amethyst, and a carbuncle respectively.

An Inveterate Drunkard.—At the Fort Police Court yesterday, a Bania named Pranjevun Jeevun was charged before Mr. Jayaker, by Inspector Dillon, with being drunk and disorderly. The inspector stated that the accused is an inveterate drunkard, and had been convicted no less than fifteen times. Last Monday he was again drunk, and in Kalbadevie assaulted three natives without provocation. His worship fined the accused Rs. 10, and bound him over to keep the peace for six months.

House-breaking and Theft.—Yesterday at the Fort Police Court, before Mr. Jayaker, Sulliman Fakeer Mahomed and Ismail Noor Mahomed were charged, the first with house-breaking and theft of property valued at Rs. 25, and the second with receiving the property, knowing it to be stolen. The property, which consisted of gold and silver embroidery, brass and copper vessels, bottles, &c., belonged to one Sulliman Moosajee, a butcher, and had been stolen four or five weeks ago. The police traced it to the defendants. They were sentenced, the first to two years' and the second to six months' rigorous imprisonment.

The Influence of Drink.—Yesterday, at the Fort Police Court, Thomas Mars, a fireman of the s.s. City of Manchester, was charged before Mr. Cooper, at the instance of Inspector Saunders, with having in his possession a watch and chain, valued at Rs. 60, knowing them to be the property of Henry Bruce, fourth engineer of the s.s. Mameluke. On Saturday morning Bruce came on shore, and when he returned to his ship the watch and chain were missing. Accused, who had been in the company of the complainant, was suspected of the theft, and eventually acknowledged that while under the influence of liquor he had pawned the property in the Market, where it was recovered. He was sentenced to one month's rigorous imprisonment.

A Vagrant.—Constable Collis yesterday placed a young lad named Henry Austen before Mr. Cooper, and said he wished to go to the Workhouse, as he had no friends or relations and no home. In answer to questions, Austen said he was born in Australia, and had come to Bombay a week ago, having worked his passage out. He had been refused admission into the Strangers' Home. The police officer informed the magistrate that it was very hard now to get into the Home. At present three or four European boys were kept waiting about who had been refused admission into the Home. His worship made an order for Austen's admission to the Government Workhouse.

Fatal Quarry Accident.—An inquest was held yesterday at the J. J. Hospital, on the body of Suckoo, a woman 30 years of age, lately a labourer employed at a quarry in Chinchpoogly. On Monday about noon while deceased was working at the quarry a large fragment of rock weighing about a maund struck her on the legs and knocked her down. Her right leg was fractured below the knee, and the left leg a little above the ankle. She was conveyed in a very delirious state to hospital, where the right leg was amputated. She gradually became weaker, and died at 9 o'clock the same night. A verdict of accidental death was recorded.
